

Evaluation resources for community-based prevention organizations...

A large number of guidance documents and other resources regarding evaluation are available online from many different sources. One of the best resources in our view, and also especially relevant to community-based substance misuse prevention, is available from CADCA at:

Another helpful resource is the PowerPoint presentation that Amy Livingston shared with RPP grantees in 2019. The presentation provides a brief overview of the statewide evaluation approach for RPP plus a helpful perspective on the differences between community-level evaluation and program evaluation.
